Intentional	Curious	Aware
Set your own goals and create the strategies to succeed in reaching them.	Make college work for you by asking questions that you care about and using those to guide inquiry.	Learn more about yourself and the experiences of others to better help you navigate a diverse and changing world.

Questions

- How do you engage and support through FYE?
- Set realistic goals, identify resources and use them?
- Engage them in meaningful inquiry?
- Understand themselves and others who differ?
- Depth and breadth issue—how do you connect the FYE experiences

What are your campuses doing to engage students?

UNC Charlotte	Prospect for Success: a First-Year academic program that address three key areas <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>● Intentionality (Commitment to Success)--seems most concrete goal of project, clearest vision for what this is. Co-curricular partners like the Career Center help make this work.</li> <li>● Curiosity (Inquiry)--so much a part of what we do as a university but too often gets reduced to a research paper or project. We want students to think of how this helps them generate new questions and ideas.</li> <li>● Cultural Awareness (Awareness)--greatest variation on how we define this. It's workplace diversity for some, culture of a profession for others and cultural difference for some.</li> </ul>

Thoughts on enhancing or improving the Prospect for Success.

If you have ideas for how we can improve the Prospect for Success, share them here. Perhaps you know a different way we can help faculty, staff and students engage in and tackle these goals.

Commitment to Success Identifying comprehensive, realistic and meaningful goals and developing intentional strategies to achieve them.	Inquiry The open-ended pursuit of knowledge which is driven by curiosity.	Cultural Awareness Understanding yourself and others whose world view and experiences differ.
